School Events

- We have Thanksgiving break coming up! It will start on Wednesday, November 25th. We will resume classes on Monday of the next week.
- Are you all ready for basketball season this year? I know I am! One important, profitable thing for our games is concessions. For the parents of the students who are and even aren't on the basketball team, we greatly urge you to volunteer to help serve in the concessions. Food items and monetary donations are accepted. Each item donated means the school profits more money to put back into the school and that's the end goal - to raise more money for this great school. Please stop by the office to make a donation or to be put in touch with Becky Adams to volunteer your time in the concessions kitchen. Another key part of our school is school spirit! It would be amazing to see those bleachers filled with some of our own! Oh, and I can't forget to thank you because I know you guys won't let me down, and my momma always told me to use my manners.
- Wednesday, December 9th is the kick off to our Christmas Chapel! Parents, this would be a great time to get out of work and support your little ones. They would be so excited to see their parents in the audience! It will begin in the morning at 10:00 am. Also, the following Sunday, December 13th our school will be performing the same Christmas Program at Lighthouse Church. The service begins at 10:00 am.

Student Feature

What's poppin fam? Today we have none other than Bob Wang himself- Daimon Salyer! Daimon is very interested in the Travy patty from McDonalds. In fact Daimon loves eating, he eats food every day. His favorite drink to wash down the underwhelming burger is a sprite cranberry because Christmas is close so he can actually drink it. One of his other favorite hobbies is driving cars around. Yes, driving is a hobby, don't give me that face. Daimon also says he enjoys going to Doctor Phil's ranch on the weekends to make fun of the spoiled kids for being so spoiled. He also works out at home in his free time. Daimon does not enjoy stick bugs. They know what they did. When he grows up he wants to work at a graveyard because then he could say he worked a graveyard shift at a graveyard. Far reaching goals, aren't they? He'll also drive a punch buggy around to see people punch each other constantly. Thanks for reading and come back next week for more!

Chapel

Yesterday, Coach Andy Bryant expressed his belief that we as people are all worth it. Regardless of different pasts or backgrounds, we are still loved and accepted without fail by our Heavenly Father. The Lord's love is endless and greater than all.
